article, and it seems indeed like there was undue excitement in the Council of old Richmond town. But the bacteria Slush, mud, rain and wind added much to the temptation to stay in-doors last night, and the result was a disappointment to the shopkeepers, for the water kept many people off the streets.

Even at that, however, the stores did good business, and the season of Santa Claus came to an end with hig business for the dealers and plenty of cheer and happiness for the masses.

The exchanges of the greetings of the season were numerous, and the hearty volce was the rule, and not the exception. Postmaster Beattle helped to make a lot of people glad. He sent Christmas checks to the City Mission, the Neighborhood Home and Bethany Home. The latter place received a $25 check from the Manchester Lodge of Eliss. didding in the highest court in this country. Naturalists have long agreed that a buil dog is a perfect gentleman if allowed to pursue the even tenor of his way, and why a muzzle should be demanded of the buil-dog species and not the other kind of dogs would be something worthy an opinion of the highest judicial tribunal in the land.

Books for the Blind.

Information to the Blind of Virginia, which all newspapers are requested to

Since all point and line type literature for the Blind can pass through the mails free of postage and the State Library in Richmond is being supplied with these books, it is hoped that the Blind throughout the State will avail themselves of these unprecedented advantages. It has been deemed wise to purchase these books mainly in the New York Point, and therefore we suggest that those who can read only the line type will learn also the New York Point, which is far less difficult, and to this end the Virginia School for the Deaf and the Blind, Staunton, Va., will furnish free upon application, New York Point type alphabet cards, and the Superintendent will cheerfully furnish by mail all necessary information. For the lean of books in both the line and the point type, address Jno. P. Kennedy, Esq., Librarian, Richmond, Va., and for alphabet cards, address Wm., A. Bowles, Supt., Virginia School for the Deaf and the Blind, Staunton, Va.—Goodson Gazette.

Bought Many Mules.

The St. Louis World of last Wednesday publishes the following interesting item concerning one of the leading Richmond dealers in horses.

The largest individual purchase of mules ever made in the St. Louis market was recorded Tuesday, when S. P. Clay bought 137 head of fine animals from the Joseph A. Maxwell Mule Co., of the National Stock Yards, for a cash consideration of $16,367.50.

Mr. Clay is one of the leading clitzens of Richmond. Va., and said the mules "would make a fine Christmas present for the old man and the boys."

Mr. Clay will be in the city until Friday, and will probably make several other large purchases.

In addition to the above, Mr. Clay has on hand 105 other mules of high class.

WANT FOOD, NOT TOYS

(By Associated Press.)

FALL RIVER, MASS., Dec. 24.—Meetings of the various textile unions are to be called within a short time, it is learned, to vote upon the question of further continuing the cotton-mill strike. It is a gloomy Christmas season in Fall River, although every effort is being made to make Christmas Day as bright as possible under the circumstances. Several carloads of toys are coming from Boston, but labor leaders say it is food that the suffering operatives and children in Fall River need the most.

CHRISTMAS CAROLS.

Carols were originally accompanied with a dance, and this carol dancing is part of the rhythinio mycement of the Oberammangau play, as well as of the dances of the Shakers of Lebanon in, New York Sinte.

The first Christmar carol in history is the "Gloria in Excelsis" found in the Homan mans, and in the Episcopal Book of Common Prayer, It is ascribed to Telesphorus, bishop of Rome, about the year A. D. 125, and is common in both the castorn and western churches.

An old English carol begins with the hotable worls:

Behold a simple, tender babe

An old English carol possess when to table words:
Behold a simple, tender babe.
In freezing winter night.
In homely manger trembling lies,
Alas, a pitcous sight.
The "higher critics" have wondered how the shepherds could watch their flocks by night, even in winter in Judea, but this presented no difficulty to Robert Southwell, the nuther of this quaint carol, when it is a Jesuit was imprisoned in the Tower presented ne difficulty to Robert Southwell, the author of this quaint errol, who as a Jesult was imprisoned in the Tower of London, and, after enduring the tertures of the rack, was executed in 1594.

A popular carol among the Germans is one written by Martin Luther for his littile son Hans. It begins:
Form the highest heaven I come to tell
The gladdest news which e'er befell A'very sad story is told in connection with this carol. In order to give it realistic effect in a certain Lutheran church it used to be sung by a boy let down from the roof of the church dressed as an angel. But one day the rope broke, and the boy was killed. This put an end to a very beautiful but dangerous
Christmas custom.

At a time when the liturgical and Biblical plays were popular the Christmas carol was an important feature. In Italy in the time of St. Francis of Assisi, in order to instruct the people, the vilmas carol was an important feature. In Italy in the time of St. Francis of Assis, in order to instruct the people, the villagers came to the church carrying lighted torches, and there they saw the scene of the manger filled with hay, and the ox and ass standing in their places near the Virgin and Child. Then it was that St. Francis and his friars stood by the manger all night long, giving God thanks that by this means the hearts of the people had been touched. "Rare old Ben Jonson," in the days of the "Good Queen Bess," wrote a curol which begins "I sing the Birth was born to-night." And about that time appeared a very popular carol which is sung in "Merrie England" even to the present day, the first line of which is "God restyou, merrie gentlemen." Some old Christmas carols have come down to us in half Latin and half English. Among them is a carol which specars in the collection for Grace Church, New York City, this season:

is a carol which appears in the collection for Grace Church, New York City, this season:

When Christ was born of pure Maris In Bethelem, that fair citie,
Angels sang with mirth and gies
In Excelcia Gloria.

In this "Grace collection" there is a carol commencing "Ovor the world on Christ morn," by Dr. Mackiny Smith, now bishop-coadjutor of Pennsylvania.

The uncouth carol of the sixteenth contury has given place, to the popular Christmas hymn of later days. Wherever the English language is snoken Chaples Wosley's hymn "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing" finds a place in the sanctuary. It is also translated into the languages of India, China, and Japan. Its author was the brother of the founder of Methodism, He was a true poet and a perfect hymn writer. His masterpieco is the benutiful hymn "Jissus, Lover of My Soul," which was sung by the Princess Alice at the death-bed of the prince-consort of England, the lamented husband of Queen Victoria.

"Come All Ye Faithful" is the "Adeste Fideles" of the Latin, and came originally from the pen of Aurelius Clemens Prudentlus, a mative of Spain, who flourished about the latter half of the fourth century. There is another hymn by the same Latin author, which begins with "Or the Father's love besorten."

We have two well-known Christmas carols by American writers. "A Little County of Bethelem" was written by the "Shout the Glad Tidings, Exultingly Sing" was composed by Dr. Muhlenburs, the founder of the Church of the Holy Communion. St. Luke's Hospital, and other charities in New York City.

"Angels From the Realms of Glory" is by the great hymn writer. James Montgomery, who for thirty years edited a Sheffleid newspaper in England. Ho is often confounded with Robert Montgomery, who was ridiculed and denounced by Macaulay.

A CHRISTMAS LESSON.

SUBJECT: The Prince of Peace. GOLDEN TEXT: His name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, the Mighty God, the Everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace.—Isa. ix: 6.

INTRODUCTION.—The observance of a the contrast which he next makes beday in commemoration of the birth of Jesus is a church appointment. There is no intimation that the Divine Master desired, or that His apostes enjoined, any celebration. By the supper alone, fit memorial of His death, He sought to perpetuate His memory among those who loved Him. A natural and spontaneous impulse, however, causes His followers to rejoice on account of His advent, and to set apart a time, supposed to be an anniversary, for common expressions of admiration for His character and deeds. To-day the Sunday schools of the world

Andrew Smith Sends Three Bullets Into Nelson Jenkins's Body.
Nelson Jenkins, colored, was shot three times last night about 11 o'clock by Andrew J. Smith, who conducts a store at No. 1710 East Marshall Street. Smith also is colored. One builet entered the shoulder of the left arm, another in the same arm and a third in the left side. Jenkins was taken to the First Police Station by Dr. Mercer, in charge of the ambulance, and there his wounds were dressed. He was then taken to his home, where he is reating comfortably. The wounds are not regarded as fatal.
Emith was arrested. According to his

Met With Painful Accident.

Last night about 11:15 o'clock Motorman W. H. Luckott, on a Passenger and Power car, met with a painful accident when his car reached Thirteenth and Main Streets, eastbound, receiving a Roman candle ball in the right eye. Several boys were shooting the candles when he car passed, and the ball came from one of these candles. The wound, while not dangerous, is very painful. It is not believed that the sight of the eye will be more than temporarily injured. He was treated by Dr. Mercer, of the ambuinnet, and afterwards removed to his home.
